I think that its a shame that Blacks are being treated the same as in the 60's. Malice Green was beaten to death by some police officers. The police are suppose to protect the people, not kill them. Now they're trying to say that he used drugs but what did that have to do with anything?

I don't care what he did, they didn't have to kill him. Even if he became violent, it didn't take all of those policemen to beat him like that. The same thing happened to Rodney King but he survived. All of this non-sense needs to stop. I think that a law should be written regarding the misuse of authority and excessive use of force concerning citizens whom they are supposed to protect.
