Attention: Mr. McBride

Dear Mr. McBride:

This letter is in response to your request last night for mail in support of Mayor Cavanaugh's resistance to the pressure group who is trying to tell him how to conduct the affairs of his office.

We not only support his stand but admire his courage in taking it. His duties are prescribed by law and he is sworn to uphold them; and no minority group has the right to impose its will on him through a threat of reprisal at the next election. Too many elected officials yield to the pressure groups, forgetting that they could not have made a successful campaign without the votes of the many law abiding, conscientious citizens who constitute the majority of our people. The rights of this majority are much too frequently disregarded entirely.

Please continue your outstanding editorial comment on the issues that beset us from time to time.

Yours sincerely,

Harold Clarke
